

EMILY REED

Clinical Assistant Professor

(555) 987-6543

emily.reed@email.com

Boston, MA

Education

Boston University, Boston, MA

University of New Hampshire, Durham, NH

Skills

Clinical training program development

Patient care ethics and compliance

Interprofessional education

Simulation-based teaching

Strong mentorship and leadership skills

Advanced communication and interpersonal skills

Research and publication writing

Crisis management and critical thinking

Professional summary

Dedicated Clinical Assistant Professor with 10+ years of experience in healthcare education and clinical supervision. Expertise in curriculum design, patient-centered care, and interprofessional collaboration. Passionate about fostering student growth and bridging the gap between theory and practice in clinical settings.

Experience

Massachusetts General Hospital Institute of Health Professions

August 2018 - Now

Boston, MA

Clinical Assistant Professor

- Design and implement clinical training programs for nursing and allied health students.
- Supervise and evaluate students during hands-on clinical rotations.
- Deliver lectures on advanced nursing techniques and patient care ethics.
- Coordinate with hospital staff to ensure clinical objectives aligned with patient care priorities.
- Develop simulation-based learning modules that improved student preparedness by 25%.

Brigham and Women's Hospital

Boston, MA

Staff Nurse – Cardiac Care Unit

- Provided high-quality care to post-surgical cardiac patients in a fast-paced unit.
- Precepted nursing students and new hires, ensuring a smooth transition into the unit.
- Collaborated with interdisciplinary teams to optimize patient outcomes.
- Managed complex cases requiring advanced critical thinking and decision-making skills.