

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF PSYCHOLOGY

Dr. Michael Tan

COVER LETTER

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to recommend Ms. Danielle Ruiz, who worked with our family as a part-time nanny between September 2021 and August 2023. She provided care for our children, aged 11 and 14, during a critical transition as both began navigating adolescence and remote learning.

Danielle proved herself to be more than a caregiver—she was a steady mentor and a patient educator. She helped our daughter adjust to middle school by offering organizational strategies, and she supported our son with his language arts projects. Her calm, encouraging approach made a lasting impact on both.

While we originally hired her for after-school supervision, Danielle took on additional tasks with enthusiasm. She helped with meal prep, managed school pick-ups, and even coordinated extracurricular schedules. She communicated clearly and always confirmed details in advance.

Danielle is incredibly reliable and grounded. Her natural rapport with older children sets her apart. I recommend her confidently for families seeking a thoughtful and trustworthy part-time caregiver.

Kind regards,

Dr. Michael Tan

DETAILS

✉ mtan@uchicago.edu

📍 University of Chicago

FROM

Dr. Michael Tan

Associate Professor of Psychology