To Whom It May Concern,

I am honored to recommend Ms. Tasha Brooks, who worked with our son, Liam, from June 2020 to January 2024. Liam has autism spectrum disorder and sensory processing challenges, and Tasha's understanding and compassion were extraordinary.

She created a predictable, supportive environment while remaining flexible to his changing needs. Tasha introduced visual schedules, used positive reinforcement, and collaborated with our occupational therapist to ensure consistency. Her ability to connect with Liam was remarkable.

She never viewed his diagnosis as a limitation. Instead, she found creative ways to nurture his interests in music and drawing. Tasha also accompanied him to therapy sessions and served as a bridge between school and home routines.

Her insight, patience, and advocacy were life-changing for our family. I can say, without exaggeration, that she helped Liam—and us—thrive.

With deep appreciation,

Diane Russell
